Coughing inside your coffin like at the bottom of the sea inside you're breathing too numb for asking so I will leave it outside your door warning the threat of morning that just extends you another day
some lights were shining not much for seeing but you'll be leaving the way you came shot shooting shot shot shot shooting yourself again for what to taste all the waste flare fakes a flower a burnt-out shower no one can see you were needing too shy for asking
pulse stalls uncut but clotted when you had thought it would force a flow
but you believe in the way you came
