She keeps on running while the rain lines her face firmly proud of what she's become I can guess one day she'll be safe but first of all she's to fight against herself, against herself...

I can watch through the blinds of your room where dark shadows are going to play, you know a child's looking for his rainbow that someone stole some years ago
You know you are the one...

She doesn't care
about the time we've thrown away
She needs to escape from herself
The story seems the same again
And life is grey
just like an acid summer rain
There is no way to replace the thought I miss you here with me, here with me...

Loneliness like a beautiful stranger is where you meet the one you've never been while the winter lazily comes back a red flower is blooming in my head Do you know what this means for me?

Now I can't talk with you any longer
'cause my destiny I want to get to know I will not forget the passion I could read deep in your eyes you know you are the one for my life...

She doesn't care
about the time we've thrown away
She needs to escape from herself
The story seems the same again
And life is grey
just like an acid summer rain
There is no way to replace
the thought I miss you here with me, here with me...

You know...
