"Windswept"

as i step outside this bitter conflict of life i ponder if her cries can stop the star from flight the fall wind blows off the ocean
as it whist by the tips of trees who were silent just like i am at the sight of their dying leaves and i've just returned from the first time we have heard realizing what i had guess i'll never get it back oh-oh
and look at how windswept my life's become since you left
your nowhere but my spinning head she use to walk beside the pier
as the break water disabled the coming swirls
so i run there to find lover all strewn all about and i can't believe i let you go laying here sad and alone
to go find peace are you happier without me?
you're nowhere but my spinning head
no one seems to understand how your scent blows off the ocean i can't believe i let you go laying here so sad and all a-alone
all the thing i cannot change alone
all the things that trouble me

all the times we find who we are
alone
all the things i didn't see
and the only thing i cannot
alone
how the blowing wind survived
becuase you're so full of
alone
so why you steal my wave!
so remember
we had good times and i never forget your lies so does our love and the sea
feeling us all torn and broken
oh-oh
but your scent blows off the ocean
laying here so dal and alone
alone
