Third world war, I don't want it
Third world war, we don't need it
Third world war, I don't want it
Third world war, we can't beat it

Suicide, sure way to die
No chance to come back, it's our final ride
The buttons pressed, the presidents addressed
He hides below, while we scream in distress

Third world war, I don't want it
Third world war, we don't need it
Third world war, I don't want it
Third world war, we can't beat it

Who can win in this only real sin
When they declare war end and begins
Too much pride, with no real rights
Talking of peace, as they step their war stride

Third world war, I don't want it
Third world war, we don't need it
Third world war, I don't want it
Third world war, we can't beat it

I pledge allegiance to the United States of America
And for which it stands
But not for whatever the hell is going on right now
Not for those who have taken from us
Stolen our rights, what our forefathers have given us
Just basically took a big steaming crap, all over them
For that I do not pledge my friend, I do not pledge

Third world war, I don't want it
Third world war, we don't need it
Third world war, I don't want it
Third world war, we can't beat it

Fourth world war, he don't dig it
Fifth world war, she don't like it
Sixth world war, he don't need it
Seventh world war, we can't beat it

Eighth world war

You know what, eighth world war, fine
If you're willing to skip the next five world wars
We're willing to get together, put our fists up, and kick some ass pal

Third world war, I don't want it
Third world war, we don't need it
Third world war, I don't want it
Third world war, we can't beat it

Third world war, third world war, third world war, third world war
