my stab at these lyrics:

as far as you see i am fine as far as you know i am nothing i'm not anything

it's not a case of being blind it's not your fault that i'm not anything just as long as you notice that these are the days

i'm ashamed

i can never make it through without it

you know it's true

you love that it's you and i will never make it through without you i tried to drink you off my mind i tried so hard that i felt nothing forgot everything and just to kick you from my hide and just to get you

i'd do anything

you know that it's true
cause i've given all for nothing but i don't know just how far i'll go...
you love it it's you and i will never make it through without it
these are the days
never make it through without you i could never make it through without you these are days
these are days..
