here's a stab at 'weatherman' somebody just pulled the plug on my weatherman it wasn't too bright, but they needed my somebody stole my weatherproof gentleman left on a coat (?) in the sun he was a kind man who always stood up for me never gave reason to dream he would lie always intriguing, never showed apathy he never brought a tear to my eyes it might be nice if you'd be my weatherman take me in, far away from the cold cause i was always a girl who would talk too much always losing control...

fill my mouth with the right words to say
always running away...
