

Further Seems Forever "February Tide"

This may seem out of place
Your subtle glance brings a smile to my face
And I thought it was so bizarre
The way the sun hit your eyes
Thinking of you is like waking up to the sunrise
The sun is rising with the tide

Sitting by the water's edge
Underneath this pale light
I wish I could pause this moment forever

You said we needed time
I'm already there
And now you left me waiting
The sand on my feet

Just the sound of your voice

It brings me comfort inside
Sitting by the old side with your hands in mine
Underneath this February sky

You said we needed time
I'm already there
And now you left me waiting
The sand on my feet

Viewing the ocean from the sun's point of view
I miss the reflection and the contrast

You said we needed time
I'm already there
And now you left me waiting
The sand on my feet
