Would that I could
But I cannot go on
Loving like there's now change in your heart
When there's no mistaking this
For a new start, just the same shot
Fading out of focus in the foreground
While the world keeps spilling all around us
In the background
Almost holding on

My wheels spin till I'm spun out
I'm staring down the sun till I'm stared out
When all I ever really wanted was your love

These days run through each other
Just the thought of you alone makes me suffer
When all I ever really wanted was
All I ever wanted was your love

Like a shot just fired in the air
Without much thought or account
Over who it's gonna harm
When it comes back down for us
It has always been a little dangerous for us
There has always been a little danger
To keep us holding on

My wheels spin till I'm spun out
I'm staring down the sun till I'm stared out
When all I ever really wanted was your love

These days run through each other
Just the thought of you alone makes me suffer
When all I ever really wanted

Would that I could but I can't escape your love
Would that I could but I can't escape your love
Would that I could but I cannot not have your love
Would that I could

My wheels spin till I'm spun out

I'm staring down the sun till I'm stared out
When all I ever really wanted was your love

These days run through each other
Just the thought of you alone makes me suffer
When all I ever really wanted was
All I ever really wanted was your love
