I'm so glad that we had our little talk/chat

It's nice to know you will never change your ways

And I'm glad that you left me years ago

Because now I found someone who confides in me

Sad to hear your new man sleeps around with other girls

But now you know just how it feels to realize your love means shit

Made me smile to hear you say, "Other guys don't measure up."

If there was one thing you were good for, that was nothing

What goes around always comes around

I'll watch you fall then hit the ground

I don't know what's happening

It's a world of selfishness and sin
