I won't lay my dreams on your altar of sacrifice
Take it, the lies that you hold dear no longer affect me
As your life is bought and sold I'll sit back and laugh
At your burning, draining, dying world
Dried out, killed, overused; drained of all that you give Don't expect another contender to be the object of this abuse
I've given up on the dying; it never gave me your peace
Smile big, sit straight now, let go of all your dreams
Bleed yourself dry boy
Bleed it out, suck it in Bleed yourself on demand
You've made your decision; I've made mine
So you can save your breath selling me on your death
Choose your own death, you're already dead
