Life is full
Of so many simple crutches
It helps me walk, it helps me sleep, it helps me suffer
(Cry out) Love was never there
(Cry out) and i just didn't see it

Weapons take on so many painfull attachments
The faces change, but they say the same damn stories
(Cry out) Love was never there
(Cry out) and i just didn't see it
(Cry out) Love was never there
(Cry out) no i don't think i even care

I built this wall around my heart
To shut you out i've played my part
In this game that I thought was real
In this hate that I know feel
If I ever fall again, will I just turn it to the wind and let it fly away with Pain?
Or let it fester into shame?
This cold dark place inside my mind
Will keep my safe and far behind
So you can never hurt me again

(On my knees) So you can never hurt me again
(On my knees) No one can ever hurt me again

Nothing can ever hurt me again
Nothing can ever hurt me again
The way you did, the way you did
And nothing can ever erase

A small dark place where i can hide
A small dark place where i can hide
Where you can hurt me again (on my knees)
