Failed coercion leads to intrusion and the blood forever runs
In her head into her hands between her legs where his mind lies Power drives him in to slaughter innocence
On the rack of his devices vices and designs
She will never scrub the stains from her arms from her neck
From her legs the dirt will remain as a reminder of his hateful face
Break in! rip apart the inner fibers of her soul
And boy you'll never know how it feels the fear the shame
Feel free to walk down any dark street without fear Without shame no one is gonna touch you And you don't need protection she shouldn't need protection!
And you can sit there with that stupid smile on your face
And try to convince me that you care defined by your power defined By her body the innocence she feels everybody else contains It's gone it's lost but i guess it doesn't matter anyway
Break in! rip apart the inner fibers of her soul
And you can sit there with that stupid smile on your
face
And try to convince me that you care Defined by your power Defined redefined fucked tortured and discarded
And if he ever cares maybe he will feel ashamed For everything he's stolen for all the trust she gave Possessed and broken she cries but it's not our problem Pull down your goddamned blinds! she will never think he's wrong she Will never feel quite right he will never think he's wrong she will never Feel quite right you will never think he's wrong you will never Think you're wrong she will never feel quite right
