your words don't come easily no more I wonder what you're doing every second that I'm not with you and now I see what I put you through, I should be gone something keep me hanging on this instinct all this pain I feel don't phase you it's funny what them drugs will do and now I'm crying now, how could someone spend so much time so close and always feel so far away how could two people stay together so long just because they're afraid to walk away

I swear to god we're breaking up this time...
I swear to god we're breaking up this time...
I swear to god we're breaking up this time...
I swear to god we're breaking up this time...

time is so wrong but the feeling so right won't you let me kick it just one more time won't you let me love you and hug you and squeeze you tight won't you be my darling tonight kiss me one more time before you turn your back forever, now you walking away look me in the eye, smile, like you did the very first time I called your name tell me everything's gonna be alright, even though I can't stop these tears for five long years I was afraid to give it all now you're gonna leave me and my best friend is gone

I swear to god we're breaking up this time...

I swear to god we're breaking up this time...
I swear to god we're breaking up this time...
I swear to god we're breaking up this time...

why won't you let me love you, baby, baby start from scratch, we'll start from scratch why won't you let me love you, baby, baby start from scratch, start from scratch you're my friend, you're my sister my lover, I don't want find another to replace you start over again

we'll start over again
you're my friend, you're my sister my lover, I don't want to find another to replace you start over again
we'll start over again

I swear to god we're breaking up this time...
I swear to god we're breaking up this time...
I swear to god we're breaking up this time...
I swear to god we're breaking up this time...
