

Boy Sets Fire "Endorsement"

Visit "Endorsement" on MotoLyrics.com

I create my own
I no longer revolve around your resentment
I can smell the hatred behind your tearing sneer
I am no longer threatened by this judgment throne

Lies, dead, stagnant, change, forgetting one more day
I could really care less about your lame confinement
My ego's not worth saving when true change is not met
Forgetting one last day, I can't understand

But I feel this rage is spreading on inside me
You tread on me like you have before
My body is broke but my soul's unbowed
Your laughter fuels a will to move inside of me that I've never felt

Standing, grabbing ground, your faces all drown out
I can't understand but I can't stop forward moving
I won't be pulled down anymore
This is all I have no matter what scorn

Ears sliced off by complacency
Do their bodies no good for the words they speak
You tried your best to take me down
And then explained that's what friends are for Your ruled me out, you ruled me out

Visit Boy Sets Fire page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.