

Gabe Dixon Band

"More Than It Would Seem"

Visit "More Than It Would Seem" on MotoLyrics.com

Too many times you were all alone he left you behind cryin' by the phone You weren't born to lose but losing him is wise you've got a new fool and he's just about my size

Live your life just how you love to live it
and things will all fall into place.
Take your strife and try your best to sing it.
In the end you meet your friends.

There is something I must tell you girl, been building up so long see, all the times I served as your love consultant
I wanted to be there myself

Live your life just how you love to live it
and things will all fall into place.

Take your strife and try your best to sing it
In the end you meet your friends.

I love you more than it would seem
I love you more than it would seem

Love to me is not a total stranger but love to me don't make no sense.
Love can be a capsule full of danger, but that's a risk I'll have to take.

I love you more than it would seem
I love you more than it would seem

I'm sorry I waited so long but the time was so wrong.
I know its just a song but I love you Things ain't what they seem to be
I have tried to conceal but love overwhelms me

Visit Gabe Dixon Band page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

