i opened up your letter when things were looking good you said goodbye in glitter i guess i knew you would be the kind with hearts on her eye's you're the junior prom queen in disguise you can go now that i know that I will be ok alone

i took you out to dinner romance and candlelight 2 pills and bottled water suppress your appetite

it's the way your telephones ring when i'm sharing an epiphany you should go now that i know

you made me feel
like i was someone you loved for real but now i find that you're handing out your candy valentines all over town what a sweet letdown

a repeat letdown

so i tore up your letter i lit a cigarette no reason to remember so easy to forget

all the times you straightened my hair now i stay home watching millionaire all day, i think i can say that i will be i will be ok alone

well, i will be ok alone
