

Gabriel The Marine

"The Gold Coast"

Visit "The Gold Coast" on MotoLyrics.com

Verse 1:

Dylan, "Next to the Coast made of gold, shimmering stars. Where do I go, from here?"

Mike, "Is it worth taking distance, distance in time?"

Dylan, "Where do I go, from here? All I have, All I am, is a chance to pretend. What is time but a chance to forget all I am? Next to the coast made of gold, shimmering stars. Where do I go from here?"

Mike, "Remember, remember what I said. I'll be fine. I'll be fine."

Dylan, "All I have, All I am is a chance to pretend. What is time but a chance to forget?"

Mike. "Everybody knows when my body shows I'm skin and bones. These are the days when blue skies turn into gray. This is who I am. This is where I stand. Holding on to memories closer now so I can hear you."

Dylan, "Remember, remember."

Mike, 'this city's built on cities made of bricks..."

Visit Gabriel The Marine page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.