"5 O'clock"

It's 5 o'clock in the morning and I cannot sleep
I'm looking at you beside me and I'm watching you breathe, baby
I touch your face, feel your warmth, you're now a part of me
I don't know what I would do if you were ever to leave

I want you to be practically giving your heart away to me, baby
I made a promise to you that I'll be keeping it safe
I'll never give it away
No, no, no, no

You should know, I never plan to let you go
You should care, I made my promise to be here

'Made For Each Other', that's what our friends all keep on saying
I got a feeling they're right but I just don't wanna, say no
I don't wanna tempt fate

My friend my lover, there's nothing I can't ask of you You're always there for me whenever I'm needy of you You're always true baby, baby

You should know, I never plan to let you go
You should care, I made my promise to be here

My mind goes back to a time that wasn't long ago
Your confirmation of love for me
You captured my soul, you made me feel whole

What we got is good, we gotta keep a hold on it
Our obligation to love is something we know exists
We're two parts that, baby, baby

You should know, I never plan to let you go
You should care, I made my promise to be here

I know I'm saying this when you already understand Love's never easy between a woman and a man

Some things in life will never come to you so easily
I want your kind of love and not from someone grieving me
No, no, no

You should know, I never plan to let you go
You should care, I made my promise to be here
You should know, I never plan to let you go
You should care, I made my promise to be here

You should know, I never plan to let you go
You should care, I made my promise to be here
You should know, I never plan to let you go
You should care, I made my promise to be here
