(Instrumental)

Just one start, a different day
Would I know you at all
Would I know you at all
When the kingdom falls and your family fades
But it wasn't your fault, it was never your fault

And I realize you have to feel alive
I know your worries will escape through the door
And you'll wake up all alone on the floor
It's not too late
Just rely on me now

Nine months gone and people fade
I wouldn't be here at all
I wouldn't be here at all
'Cause I fell in line at a different place
And it wasn't my fault
Oh, it was never my fault

And I realize you have to feel alive
Inside
I know your worries will escape through the door
And you'll wake up all alone on the floor
It's not too late
Just rely on me now
Ooh, Ooh, Ooh, Ooh

I know your worries will escape through the door
And you'll wake up all alone on the floor
It's not too late
Just rely on me now
I know your worries will escape through the door
And you'll wake up all alone on the floor
It's not too late
Just rely on me now
