But the end always comes,
and there's nothing to win.

I believe that your life depends on you,
depends on you.
But the end always comes,
and there's nothing to do.

I believe in a lord,
but not without a sin.
And the end always comes,
and there's nothing to win.

I believe that your life depends on you,
depends on you.
But the end always comes,
and there's nothing to do.

I believe in a lord,
but not without a sin.
And the end always comes,
and there's nothing to win.

I believe that your life depends on you,
depends on you.
But the end always comes,
and there's nothing to do.

I believe in a lord,
but not without a sin.
And the end always comes,
and there's nothing to win.

Destiny's path is not a one way road for we all,
what about if there's no God,
and no will from above,
no supernatural,
'cause what you do it's what up to you,
and when comes your time
it's just goodbye.

I believe that your life depends on you,
depends on you.
But the end always comes,
and there's nothing to do.

I believe in a lord,
but not without a sin.
And the end always comes,
and there's nothing to win.

I believe that your life depends on you,
depends on you.
But the end always comes,
and there's nothing to do.

I believe in a lord,
but not without a sin.
And the end always comes,
and there's nothing to win.
