~English Translation~

What was reflected there when you looked up?
The cold wind guides you away like clouds floating away

The alarm begins ringing on the clock that keeps you the way that you were that day

The flow of time is too cruel; it always torments me
I had thought that you would always be by my side, laughing...

Even if I hold up my hands to pray, you are untouchable You slowly spread your white wings and slowly wave at me, laughing

Before I know it, I'm leaning back to howl at the far off sky

I held you close and softly kissed you as you smiled gently
Even that faint happiness will never return

No matter how much time passes, I will never be able to forget That last smile you showed me continues to live on inside of me Because I loved you more than anyone
