Then He Bowed His Head And Died
Gaither Vocal Band

He heard a thousand mothers weep
For sons they'd never find
The pain of dads who cannot sleep
Then He bowed His head and died

He saw the brokenness of war
The tears of last goodbyes
He saw the lives all torn apart
And He bowed His head and died

He felt the weight of prisoners chains
He heard their cries at night
He felt the lash of every whip
And He bowed His head and died

He felt the pain of broken homes
He heard the children cry
He saw despair and hopelessness
Then He bowed His head and died

From Eden to Golgotha's hill
Across the sands of time
Came blood to buy back fallen man
God's Son would have to die
To die....

A shout split history in two
And echoes through the skies
The Father heard thy will tis done
As He bowed His head and died

All heaven heard thy will tis done
Thy will tis done

Then He bowed His head and died
