The moon will never touch the sun the journey I am on, he's not begun summer eclipse, I can't forget the day when night and day had met I didn't listen to your voice I could just hear your voice thoughts inside we'd know exactly what to say, if we'd forget the world outside
Time separates our lives so I guess I must say goodbye
summer eclipse I can't forget
the day when night and day had met
Summer eclipse I can't forget
the day when night and day had met
Summer eclipse I can't forget
the day when night and day had met
The day when night and day had met
The day when night and day had met
We know the truth
it's hard to lie

we try to avoid each other's eyes they say our hands should never touch rules of love that kill so much I'll wait for you, if this can't be we'll meet again in a dream Time separates our lives
so I guess I must say goodbye
summer eclipse I can't forget
the day when night and day had met
Summer eclipse I can't forget
the day when night and day had met
Summer eclipse I can't forget
the day when night and day had met
The day when night and day had met
The day when night and day had met
