Life just threw a left hook to my chin and knocked me down.

Tried to get back up but sorrow pushed me to the ground.

But I say...

It's not over.

Fear would rise and crystallize and force me to my knees.

Lack of faith and hell awaits would be my destiny.

But I say...

It's not over.

One more bout to go

In the last round of this fight.

And I'm up against the ropes

And it looks like there's no hope.

But I say...

It's not over.
