Why don't you give it to his face No one cares where you have been Shove my hand and turn away I hope I won't see you again

I forget your name You don't look the same I'm so glad you came I got nothing to say Won't you please go away

It keeps draggin on and on It's that same old ugly song

I just can't stand small talk

Not at all you're in my face here one more time I try to keep on rid of you The conversation isn't fine And nothing that you say is true

I live in fear of meeting someone new I might see again If you won't leave here what am I gonna do when I see my old friends
