In the future, the human race is dropped in the cultural level by the strange power.

and they are always in the agonizing.

The ground is melted and all plants are approximately exterminated.

The dictator dominates all people by the fear

All hope seems to have been broken off and all dignity seemed to have been ruined

But a few warriors decide to resist

Holding a raging rage, they run through with the flag of the rebellion

The story begins. The revolution comes

You'll see the eternal saga of the justice
