If you knew this was not my world
In the way you measure lives
That while some get far through effort
All I get is exercise

Walk out a ways from the house you built up from the ground
And past the outskirts of your town
And if you're scared you might be lost, you're found

'Cause if I lost all the will you thought I'd keep
Would you make any vows on lovers' leap?
If it took all this time to find the risk
Would you sign any bottom lines?
I don't think so
No

Latticework without foundation
Holds as long as we agree
Question and you'll hear it buckle
All on your own suddenly

Were you meant for me?
If you were somehow I think you'd know
And things would seem planned long ago
If not maybe you'd better go, whoa whoa

If I lost all the will you thought I'd keep
Would you make any vows on lovers' leap?
If it took all this time to find the risk
Would you sign any bottom lines?

If I lost all the will you thought I'd keep
Would you make any vows on lovers' leap?
If it took all this time to find the risk
Would you sign any bottom lines?
