Were you really there?
Were you really there?
Were you really there?
In a corner

I could see you sometimes
I could see you sometimes
I could see you sometimes
Could you see me?

I can see you in the face of a hundred strangers
Boy, I can see you in the face of kind strangers
Ricocheting round and round the room

I can see you sometimes
I can see you sometimes
I can see you sometimes
Did you see me?

Sometimes I can see you acting wise
White hours burning back inside your head
Only when I'm down and I am tired
Lying in a hospital bed

I can see you
I can see you

I can see you in the rhyming smiles of strangers
I can see you in the eyes of Marks & Spencer
Ricocheting round and round my room

I can see you
I can see you sometimes
I can see you
I could see you sometimes
