I thought that you were sleeping
You seemed as right as rain the day before
I never dreamt you would awake
I never dreamt that you would take them all

You always run run run like you run in a race
You always run run run rather than face up to
That you're a runaway
Ooh, you're a runaway

You always run run run like you run in a race
You always run run run rather than face up to
That you're a runaway
Ooh, you're a runaway

Ooh, you're Going home now
Ooh, run on home

You seemed to be in slumber
Blissful and oblivious to dawn
I didn't even put my makeup on before I made that emergency call
None at all

You always run run run like you run in a race
You always run run run rather than face up to
That you're a runaway
Ooh, you're a runaway

You always run run run like you run in a race
You always run run run rather than face up to
That you're a runaway
Ooh, you're a runaway

Ooh, you're a runaway
Ooh, you're a runaway
Ooh, you're a runaway
Ooh, you're a runaway

They thought that it was murder

Poison, some Victorian design
But then I saw your fingers wrapped around the chopper
Press and turn design

You always run run run like you run in a race
You always run run run rather than face up to
That you're a runaway
Ooh, you're a runaway

You always run run run like you run in a race
You always run run run rather than face up to
That you're a runaway
Ooh, you're a runaway

Ooh, you're Going home now
Ooh, run on home
Run on home now
Gone away now
Gone away
Gone away
