When he started out it seemed that the road was filled with dreams for him to tread But he's older now he's found things ain't so well planned, and he's changed instead He don't need to think about the future, he don't need to try to make the pieces fit

When they say you live for tomorrow, Oh no he just makes it through the day
No time, time wasted waiting, cause he just knows You're never too young to live and learn

She dances to her own tune, makes up her own rules, she's so fine
She does anything she wants and every little thing she does with style
She don't need to think about the future, she don't need to try to make the pieces fit

When they say you live for tomorrow, Oh no she just makes it through the day
No time, time wasted waiting, cause she just knows
You're never too young to live and learn

Live fast, die young, set the controls for the heart of the sun Wheels that turn are hard to stop so don't sit around and watch the brake linings rot You don't need to think about the future, you don't need to try to make the pieces fit

When they say you live for tomorrow, Oh no I just make it through the day
No time, time wasted waiting, cause I just know You're never too young to live and learn
You're never too young to live and learn
