Can you hear me

For miles and miles up ahead

There's a frieght train comin

The lights are burnin red

Don't you think the lines been drawn for you

This time the runnin's lost its hold on you

You count the cars now as they roll through

Lookin down now, has you lookin up

Steppin down the keyin and the engine's starting up

Now your searching all those years gone by

You can not imagine so you close your eyes

Standing still but your racing inside

And all your rollin with the windows down

And your saddles undone

In your need for constant motion

You prove that you can not run

Can you hear me

For miles and miles up ahead

There's a freight train comin

The lights are turnin again

Don't you think the lines been drawn for you

This time the runnins lost its hold on you
You can count the cars now as they pass through
Facing up now to all you've passed
Sweepin up the dust and the broken glass
You can feel your souls are wearin thin
This time its all about the place your in
So put your hands down and let it begin
Can you hear me
For miles and miles up ahead
Theres a freight train comin
