She smiles and says hey welcome home
It's been a while since you've been 'round
You smile back and say I know
I never thought I'd miss this town
But the lip sync memories in your ear
Just feel like spin that hasn't spun
Like headlights staring down a deer
She says you know I don't wanna hurt anyone

She said don't worry about me now
There's nothing more that you can say or do about me
She said I've come to show you how
Just move in closer and I'll show you how to be free

Anyone can make you feel OK

With the help of karma training wheels
But, kinda like the sting of luke-warm rain
There's really not much there to feel
If you don't know about the race
Can you still miss the starting gun?
With a sweetness somehow out of place
She says you know I don't wanna hurt anyone

She said don't worry about me now
There's nothing more that you can say or do about me
She said I've come to show you how
Just move in closer and I'll show you how to be free
