

Garrison Starr "Gardenia"

Visit "Gardenia" on MotoLyrics.com

Didn't know what I was missing
'Til I caught sight of you
Melt down my ammunition
I willingly diffuse
And you're something else

Keeping my head out of my head
I curse my old familiar way
Of bracing for the weather
On a perfectly clear day
And you're something else, something else

Gardenia, out of my reach
Gardenia, why'd you have to open yourself to me?

My hour of temporary blindness
Stunned like a sleepwalk slapped awake
Wrestling my leaning to define this
Learning to live with extra space
And you're something else, something else

Gardenia, out of my reach
Gardenia, why'd you have to open yourself to me?

And there is no word grand enough
For this extraordinary love that has overcome

Didn't know what I was missing
'Til I caught sight of you
Now everything looks different
So wonderfully different, different

Gardenia, out of my reach, yeah
Gardenia, why'd you have to open yourself to me?
Why'd you have to open yourself to me?
Oh yeah! Gardenia

Visit Garrison Starr page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.