

Garth Brooks "I'll Be The Wind"

Visit "I'll Be The Wind" on MotoLyrics.com

You let him lock you away in his prison of sadness
It's up to you to decide where tomorrow will lead
If it's time to be leaving your burdens behind
I could be just what you need

I'll be the wind, I'll be the highway
I'll be your midnight friend and we'll fly away
When you come across the courage
To spread you wings again, I'll be the wind

I can't imagine the gypsy that you were before him
Carefree and wild a spirited child of the road
Lately girl you've been wearing the weight of the world
And I'd lied to lighten you load

I'll be the wind, I'll be the highway
I'll be your midnight friend and we'll fly away
When you come across the courage
To spread you wings again, I'll be the wind

If it's time to be leaving your burdens behind
I could be just what you need

I'll be the wind, I'll be the highway
I'll be your midnight friend and we'll fly away
When you come across the courage
To spread you wings again, I'll be the wind

Visit Garth Brooks page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.