Gary Glitter - I'll carry your picture everywhere

They'll never understand The magic that I held in my hands when I touched you oh how you touched me too Can you remember when I took you photo then?
And you held me tight
you said it would be alright

To carry your picture, everywhere to show the world I'll always remember your face when love was new
My life was filled with such beautiful pictures of you They'll never understand the magic that went from my hands

when you went away but that's another day do you remember when I took your photo then
and you held me tight
you said it would be alright

To carry your picture, everywhere
to show the world I'll always remember your face
when love was new
My life was filled with such beautiful pictures of you

You, You, You

I'll carry your picture, everywhere
to show the world I'll always remember your face
when love was new
My life was filled with such beautiful pictures of your face, when loves brand new My life was filled with such beautiful pictures of you face
When love's brand new, my life was filled with such beautiful pictures
