We started our love believing
We'd have each other til the end
We took our feelings for each other
Became as one in front of friends
We walked the narrow road together
And we got lost along the way
We never tried to find each other
We were waiting on today

Again, here we are again
I don't even care tonight
Just hold me tight, even if it ends
We've seen it happen in the movies
When two old lovers meet like this
They always stop and stare a moment
She starts to cry before they kiss

Again, I need you again
I don't even care tonight
Just hold me tight, even if it ends
Again, I want you again
I'll give up my pride once more
Just close the door, let it all begin
Again
