(David Richardson - Doug Edwards)

She's faced the hardest times you could imagine
And many times her eyes fought back the tears
And when her youthful world was about to fall in Each time her slender shoulders bore the weight of all her fears
And the sorrow no one hears still rings in midnight silence in her ears.

Chorus:

Let her cry for she's a lady
Let her dream for she's a child
Let the rain fall down upon her
She's a free and gentle flower growin' wild.

And if by chance I should hold her
Let me hold her for a time
But if allowed just one possession
I would pick her from the garden to be mine.

Be careful how you touch her for she'll awaken
And sleep's the only freedom that she knows
And when you walk into her eyes you won't believe
The way she's always payin' for a debt she never owes
And a silent wind still blows that only she can hear so she goes.

Chorus:

Let her cry for she's a lady
Let her dream for she's a child
Let the rain fall down upon her
She's a free and gentle flower growin' wild...
