We come, we go
So old we can remember the dark
No songs, no words
Just whispers that wait for you to sleep
And when you dream we'll come for you
And breathe in your pain
We've seen such things
And hide them from you
And so keep you pure

I've seen gods bleeding
I've seen worlds burn
I've seen stars falling
And I've seen the dead sun rising

We live for you
We keep you safe
We keep you unknown
We die for you
Like rain we fall until you are born

We are the lost
Without you we are all that was wrong
We are the lost
Without you we are a sigh in the wind

I've watched gods bleeding
I've watched worlds burn
I've watched stars falling
And I've watched the dead sun rising
And I've watched the dead sun rising
And I've watched the dead sun rising
And I've watched the dead sun rising
And I've watched the dead sun rising
And I've watched the dead sun rising
And I've watched the dead sun rising
And I've watched the dead sun rising
