Me Ive just died
But some machine keeps on humming
Im just an extra piece of dead meat to keep running
Why wont you let me die in peace?
Why wont you let me die with some kind of honour?
Why wont you let me die at all?
I know
Youve got your principles

My body lies immobile
I left it days ago
And me I watch from somewhere as the loved ones come and go
I see them glancing at the switch
I hear them whispering maybe its better that way
I see the love turn into feelings
I know
Arent quite the same

I see the men of learning
Pacing to and fro
But how can I expect the sane to ever know?
Id rather die than have no mind
I know my brain is gone damaged beyond repair
I see an empty shell below me
I know
Ive had my time
