Please stop calling on my cell
I've got enough voicemails
Don't you get the picture?
I don't return your emails, I'm, or your texts
Messages are getting boring fast
I try to be careful with my words

You're all over me.
Suffocating.
I need to breathe.
Doorbells ringing.
CD you sent
Was lip syncing
How's that for being careful with words.
(Careful careful)

No more flowers at my door.
I've started to ignore
The smell of moldy petals.
I must confess you're desperate to get my attention.
Shoppers we are closing please go home.
I try to be careful with my words.

You're all over me.
Suffocating.
I need to breathe.
Doorbells ringing.
CD you sent
Was lip syncing
How's that for being careful with words.

First I was flattered by
All the attention I
Wanted to see where this would go
Then you got weird on me
Obsessed in the third degree
Till I was ready to explode

None of these words have been rehearsed
I don't think they can be reversed
Sadly it's only onesided

Only a matter of time before I
Have to confess what's on my mind
I told you what it would contain
Didn't I, didn't I

You're all over me.
Suffocating.
I need to breathe.
Doorbells ringing.
CD you sent
Was lip syncing
How's that for being careful with words.

You're all over me.
Suffocating.
I need to breathe.
Doorbells ringing.
CD you sent
Was lip syncing
I was so careful I ran out of words
