You want more than you take away
No one can make you stay
And if it's true there's no night no day
No sense of any other way
You've crossed that line alone
No one can take you home
If your fate to die on the throne
Sit and think what you've become

In between two worlds
Its so easy since you bought it
In between two worlds
How you'd love to join the haunted
In between two worlds
This can't be all that you've wanted
In between two worlds now

You're really alone at last

You're bored and fading fast
And if it's true you'll fall from the past
All you'll have to do is ask
You'll feel but never be
You want and always need
Price you pay for wanting to see
Will you have all you've ever dreamed

In between two worlds
Its so easy since you bought it
In between two worlds
How you'd love to join the haunted
In between two worlds
This can't be all that you've wanted
In between two worlds now
