The road was blocked
The engine stopped
And it was like we'd had enough
The thunder rolled
The lightning struck
Like we just ran out of love

I didn't cry till you were gone
Every rose has got a thorn

I could fall all over
Cause you stole my soul
You were everything I could ever want
And I left you

The door was shut
The time was up
We didn't make the final cut
Shining eyes
Burning bright
And I just blew out the light

I didn't cry till you were gone
And I guess I should have known

I could fall all over
Cause you stole my soul
You were everything I could ever want
And I left you

I didn't cry till you were gone
Oh, I guess I should have known

I could fall all over
Cause you stole my soul
You were everything I could ever want
You were everything I could ever want

I could fall all over
Cause you stole my soul
You were everything I could ever want
And I left you

Every rose has got a thorn
Oh, I guess I should have known
