Shocked the world cause they wanted to live.
They had no food, no alternative.
Lost in the snow weak in the mind.
Starving and cold; they ate their own kind.

Had no charts: lost, alone.
Eat the flesh, spit out the bone.

Malnutrition was setting in.

They needed protein, a will to win.
Cannibalism the only way.
the logical answer to live another day.

A code of conduct they must go by.
No sign of help from the sky.
How much longer can they survive?
It's human flesh that's keepin' 'em alive.
