Out of the way there is a quiet place
Where there is no skin to scar and there's no time to waste
Full of emptiness, I can't touch the bottom
Lines on her face falling in her autumn

With her while she withers away

In a mangelwurze for the cattle Washing for the battle hymn to hurry up and hold on Slaughter is to you a manicure her nails on impaled palms
Springing out of this flesh stirs a life at the bottom

With her while she withers away
With her while she withers away, away

Away, away

Away
