Lyrics by Dolgar

You created this the dust that slowly consumes all life

Your barren all-loving soil with your infernal heat

In your embrace lies the pain of centuries

The grey pain that the cosmos sees

Written in ashes are questions of tomorrow's existence

Crying are souls that have forgotten how to bleed

She who loves the flames

A burning desire

She who loves the flames

A highly passionate desire

Cover them now, dark wife

With this cloak you know they came to love

The taste of yooou, your kiss of death

In this sand they will draw their final breath

She who loves the flames

A burning desire

She who loves the flames

A highly passionate desire

Forever burning

Burn forever

Flames to purify, flames conceiver her sins

A black evil heart lets no man win

The mirror above, a starlit black sky

Reflects the battle in which man will die
