Angel, some have it hard
Ambition mocked then barred
But we're created half to rise
Half to fall

Angel, this is your path
Past generations laugh
You were created in the shadows
A real fathers son
So here we go again

If your background
Steps into the foreground
They'll lock you away
Ignore the instincts to stay down
Keep history at bay
You'll have your day

Angel, you can't be blamed
You know no other way
Here's to your children
Why not just free them
And stop the pain
So here we go again

If your background
Steps into the foreground
They'll lock you away
Ignore the instincts to stay down
Keep history at bay
You'll have your day

Angel, you've done the work
You've had your seed dispersed
You've created one half to rise
One half to fall
