The Daylight Line written by Gene Clark
There were too many people ridin' on the daylight line
I delivered to the club proceeded on a bottle of wine
Watching all the coastline roll, like anywhere it really could go
I never thought I'd strike a rhythm that would leave you cold
I'd be home in the city but really that is not my pace
I could go down in pity or leave and take a look at my face
Watching all the coastline roll, like anywhere it really could go
I never thought I'd strike a rhythm that would leave you cold
Sleepless nights without you
I don't want to live without you
But baby you know, oh whoa
We've got something between us
We better take it high or let it go, oh whoa I have
sleepless nights without you
I don't want to live without you
But baby you know, oh whoa
We got something between us We better take it high or let it go, oh whoa
So there's too many people crowded on the daylight line
I delivered to the club proceeded on a bottle of wine
Watching all the coastline roll, like anywhere it really could go
I never thought I'd strike a rhythm that would leave you cold
Watching all the coastline roll, like anywhere it really could go
I never thought I'd strike a rhythm that would leave you cold
