It hurts me just to know I had to leave her
But when your eyes met mine I knew I would Sometimes at night my conscience makes me suffer
But it don't hurt me half as bad
As holding you feels good

'Cause she's the one that made me need someone
And you're the one that gave me everything I wanted
So don't worry if it bothers me 'cause we both know it should
And it don't hurt me half as bad
As holding you feels good

Yes, she's the one that made me need someone
And you're the one that gave me everything I wanted
She could have done the things you do
But somehow never would
So it don't hurt me half as bad
As holding you feels good
No it don't hurt me half as bad
As holding you feels good
