This morning I am leaving
I've been up all night long
You're right, I'm tired of waiting
For you to come home

I've begged and tried to change you
But you've grown worse each day
If I'm a fool for leaving
I'd be twice the fool to stay

I'd rather be called foolish
And find somebody else
Than to be a fool forever
And not forgive myself

I'm exactly what you've made me
But I hope to change someday

If I'm a fool for leaving
I'd be twice the fool to stay

I'd rather be called foolish
And find somebody else
Than to be a fool forever
And not forgive myself

I'm exactly what you've made me
But I hope to change someday
If I'm a fool for leaving
I'd be twice the fool to stay

If I'm a fool for leaving
I'd be twice the fool to stay
