

Gene Watson

"Just At Dawn"

Visit "Just At Dawn" on MotoLyrics.com

(Bill Emerson - Terry Hamilton)

The heaven that we shared so long has suddenly become a living hell
And the things that felt yesterday today don't feel so well
Strong roots of resentment outgrew seeds of love I thought were so well planted
And he took you from me while I stood by and foolishly took you for granted.

He must have said and done the little things you wanted me to say and do
But I always put simple minded selfish hearted me ahead of you
You know it never crossed my mind that someday I might find myself alone
Until I awoke this morning just at dawn it dawned on me that you were gone.

At dawn I found myself alone not feeling well
I went to sleep last night in heaven woke up in the hell
You know it never crossed my mind that someday I
might find myself alone
Until I awoke this morning just at dawn it dawned on
me that you were gone.

Just at dawn it dawned on me that you were gone...

Visit Gene Watson page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.